Kris Kringles Of Nation In Conclave Tell Toy Problems

Secretary of Merchants Assn. Here Tells of New York Meet

All you grown-ups who don't believe in Santa Claus should have been here in New York yesterday says Clifford Anglin, Secretary of the Richmond Merchants Association who received the following information yesterday.

The country's real honest-to-goodness Santas, the toy manufacturers of the U. S. A., were gathered together at a luncheon table to make merry in true Yuletide spirit.

Hadn't they just assembled the biggest and best bag of American toys in history and gotten them ready for youngsters to open on Christmas morning? Aye, and they needed a rest.

REAL ST. NICKS

While the nation's children were gazing in rapture at whiskered, red-robed Kris Kringles in department store windows the length and breadth of this land, these real St. Nicks were eating their own turkey in their own way.

Little Eddie, who loves whiskers and red robes for his Santa, would have thought them just a lot of men eating together. But in reality these men make 90 per cent of the toys little Eddie and his brothers and sisters in the great American home play with.

And what are present-day toys like anyway? Let Harry C. White, from North Bennington, Vt., and president of the Association of Santas "in modern dress," tell it.

NO GROTESQUE TOYS

"No more grotesque toys like the imported kind that were all our children had a few years back. Everything up to date now. 'The American child's play life is a reflection of his parents' real life. He wants airplanes, automobiles, fire-engines, and other (Continued on Page 5)

Defense Maps Means To Stay Prison Term In Murder Case

"Either Murder Verdict Or Nothing," Desire Of Attorneys

Not only will Attorney T. D. Johnston file notice of appeal on the manslaughter verdict when Librado Flores appears before Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado Monday for sentence from one to ten years in San Quentin, but he will also ask for a stay of execution while the appeal is being perfected, he announced yesterday.

In his plea, Johnston declared yesterday, he will state as grounds that in the death of Antonio Mariscal, Flores either did not commit the deed as the defense asserts, or he is guilty of murder; that the law's interpretation of manslaughter can hardly apply in such a case when the circumstances of the Mariscal killing are considered.

Johnston has represented Flores throughout the trial. It is generally believed in Martinez that the manslaughter verdict was agreed upon as a compromise by the jury only after 22 hours of wrangling. The defense will appeal on the grounds that the verdict returned is not supported by the evidence presented concerning Flores' guilt.

Big Response Is Shown To Sales Of Xmas Seals

The sale of Christmas Seals to aid in the fight against the Great White Plague is meeting with unqualified success in Richmond, according to Mrs. R. G. Lee, chairman of the committee in charge in this city.

Each year throughout the United States these little health stamps raise funds for the treatment of tuberculosis cases. Scores of hospitals are maintained in California by the enthusiasm of the tuberculosis fighters. The inmates of these hospitals can thank the tiny "Christmas seals" for their chance at life, says Mrs. Lee.

This year, for the benefit of cases such as this, the tuberculosis fighters hope to sell 115,000,000 seals in California, the largest consignment that Santa Claus has ever had to distribute in this state.

More than $1,000,000 has been raised in California in various campaigns. Throughout America, largely from money raised by the sale of seals, the national death rate from tuberculosis has been cut by more than 50 per cent.

In California the seals have cut the rate in three years from 154 per 100,000 to 140.

Huge Number Attracted To Demonstration In All Parts of U. S.

During the morning alone, 51,000 persons streamed by the cars, catching the first glimpse accorded the motoring public.

THE OIL CASES

It is almost impossible to write or speak decorously of the recent happenings which led up to the declaration of a mistrial in the oil cases in Washington. The people of the country at large are disgusted as well as horrified. It had been hoped that this most unfortunate chapter in our national life was to be cleared finally in a court of justice. A great deal of the suspicion and insinuation which has at least clouded a part of the public mind in its vision of this whole affair had vanished by reason of the lapse of time.

The attitude of the government was to prosecute and not persecute, and the character of the two government attorneys, Robers and Pomerene, was sufficient guarantee of the sincerity of that thought. Then, almost in an instant, the whole picture was changed when it was disclosed that detectives and attorneys and other agents had been brought into the field with all their machinery for tracking and sleuthing and shadowing the jurors. There is no denying that a great mass of the people have had confidence again rudely shaken.

THE AIRPLANE BOOM

Airplane manufacturers are swamped with orders. The output for the present year will double last year's and the output for next year is expected to treble it.

The industry is still in its infancy, but is already running into big money.

The value of 1927 production will be more than $50,000,000, and from present indications the value of 1928 production may be $100,000,000. Continue the ratio of increase for a few years, and there will be a new industrial competitor for steel, motors and radio.

A visitor to the Ford factory in Detroit tells of seeing in action a new airplane only 21 feet from tip to tip, driven by a 30-horsepower engine of two opposed cylinders, and weighing altogether only 300 pounds. That plane is not on the market yet, and is merely one of Ford's many experiments. It may be the flivver of the future, dwarfing his past automobile achievement.

How To Earn Money!

What price experience? asks one of my readers or words to that effect. She is sure she says, and there are many things that she can do as well as those who have experience, but the employment agencies won't give her a chance to try. She is only one of many who have run up against this same stone wall. From the employers' point of view experience is a vital necessity. It saves time and friction in their organization. But when a person is looking for a job there seems to be too much emphasis on this and not enough on the natural ability of the applicant. This is where people who work at home as you do, my friends, have a great advantage. For you can get your experience by simply doing the work you want to do, without asking any one's permission. Those who must go out will need experience and in that case I advise you to take some of the jobs that need little training and gradually work up.

I am a married woman, 25 years of age, with a 2-year-old son. It is necessary that I help add to the family finances and would like to find some way of doing this without leaving home. What I had in mind was selling dresses. I have often seen these "dress" shops in private homes, but have never been able to learn anything about starting one.—Mrs. E. H.

There are many wholesale dress houses that sell dresses with a trade-marked name. They would, I think sell them to you at a discount and that would be your margin of profit. I imagine you could start for about $200 or a little less allowing yourself a fair variety. Be careful of your location, and if possible I think you ought to try to get a few orders before you start.

I would like to start a clipping bureau something like this: First clip an item, then write them a postal or letter, say "We have a personal newspaper item pertaining to yourself which we will be glad to send you upon receipt of twenty cents in stamps or coin." Do you think there is any mistake?—P. M.

No, there's no mistake but people who have their names in the paper only once in a while usually get their clippings themselves. The more prominent people would have their clippings sent through a bureau such as I told you of. And it's cheating to send people reprints of their letters, as you did in your example to me. You may find yourself in serious trouble if you do.

I did you read in the news the other day where a Federal judge says that free love is not immoral when it is real love?

The question was raised when a young woman who sought citizenship was branded as an immoral woman by those who sought to keep her from becoming a citizen, and they based their assertion on the fact that she had loved indiscreetly! As a young girl she had given her heart to a man who betrayed her and when five years later the man she had married found out about her love affair he refused to forgive her for something that he deemed the unforgivable sin.

Yet this girl-woman has lived a perfectly moral life since her marriage and has proved to be a good wife and mother. The man that she married takes the stand of judge and prosecutor when he knows that the one mistake that she made was the result of loving and trusting the wrong sort of man. How frail these human relationships are! How little understanding sometimes between the two people who have promised "till death do us part!" What a terrible lack of sympathy on the man's part and narrow-minded clinging to some prehistoric notion that women aren't as human as men!

There seems to be more hope of justice in such matters though when a Federal judge rules that a woman is not immoral and is entitled to citizenship even though she has erred according to laws laid down by convention.

Dear Patricia Lee—

We have been married twenty-eight years. Two years ago my wife fell in love with another man. At the time I accused her of it she begged me not to tell our sons and daughters. She now seems not to care about her family. Two weeks ago I quarreled with her about her beau and she told me that I was crazy and that she would make it that I wouldn't bother her. My wife gets $65 each Saturday and by Tuesday never has any money. I fear that she is supporting her boy friend. We have four daughters and two sons and one of our daughters is married. I suggested that she pack up and go to her friend but she asked me why I didn't get out—that she could get along without me. Will you please tell me what to do? I am almost distracted. I would never accuse her of such a thing if I didn't know it was true.—WORRIED

Yours certainly is a trying position to be in but maybe there is something that you can do without disrupting your family. It seems to me that any middle-aged woman must eventually come to her senses and how long it takes depends largely on circumstances. Your wife must have memories of twenty-six years of married life that you say in your long letter were bliss. How do your children feel about the matter? It seems to me that it is time to take them into your confidence and have a straightforward talk with your wife before your family. Something may jolt her out of her infatuation but of course it seems hard to say to you "Wait and see what happens" when you must be miserable. I am taking it for granted that you have been patient with her but whether you

The belt is an accessory to be reckoned with this season. The novelty belt is seen at all affairs where smart women gather. Here are some of the latest: A stunning affair of red and black leather, with a modern buckle and a matching bracelet; a braided silver belt finished with an oak leaf buckle, and a rhinestone model, with amethyst fastenings.

In line with the vogue for dangles and danglers used as dress trimmings, Drexell sends an after-goon frock with a perfectly plain V-neck line finished off with a long pendant of crystal and emeralds.

Horizontal tuckings distinguish a pretty two-piece frock of wool jersey. The skirt is quite plain except for three knife pleats at the front. The tucks appear on the overblouse and, with eight large buttons, serve as its sole trimmings.

BAPTISTS EXPLORE LAND OF ADVENTURE

Four hundred thousand Northern Baptist families made a tour of the world last January, a tour in which nobody had to worry about missing the ship or making train connections, because nobody left home. An imaginary airship carried the travelers and a daily reading from the Log brought before the mind's eye the mission fields of many lands. Probably it was the largest group of people that ever concentrated at one time on the subject of world-wide Christian effort.

In January, 1928, the Baptists will again set forth, not for a scheduled tour of particular countries, but to explore the Land of Adventure, which as everybody knows, includes something of all countries. Like an air pilot, the explorer has to have a license, which in this case is signed by the president of the Northern Baptist Convention, W. C. Coleman of Kansas.

Because geographers ignore the Land of Adventure, the Baptists have procured their own chart, upon which strange names appear. Every explorer will also be supplied with a copy of the Chronicle, which has a chapter for each day in the month and will be the medium through which discoveries are made.

There is something more than the Alice-in-Wonderland spirit of adventure about these projects. It has been found that in religious work, as in schools and colleges, imagination is a powerful spur to interest and, when pictures lend their aid, second only to actual travel when it comes to acquainting people with the life problems of folk in unfamiliar places. Hereafter the month of January is regularly to be a period of missionary impression with Northern Baptists. Simultaneous attention to their united program by 700 churches, with a total constituency of 1,500,000, in itself makes a strong appeal. It is a tremendous, reading circle, with branches in thirty-five states of the Union, in Latin America and in Asia, Africa and Europe.

Last January an airship of unheard-of design was the Northern Baptist symbol. This year the faithful camel will serve the same purpose and the mode of travel will be by caravan.

Miramar Chapter Holds Reception For Officers

A reception for the outgoing Worthy Matron, Mollie Black, and Worthy Patron, Elmer Martin, was given last night by Miramar chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at Masonic hall. The reception honored the other 1927 officers.

A turkey dinner preceded the regular meeting at 6:30 o'clock. Amy Mung was in charge of the dinner. A picture of the five Starpoints was presented by them to the Worthy Matron. Two songs, "We Love You Truly," and "This is the End of A Perfect Year," were sung by Julia Vickerson during the presentation. Gifts were presented the Worthy Matron and Patron in appreciation of their administration for the year.

Visiting officers from Oakland and Centerville were present. The installation of new officers will take place Friday, December 16.

Trial Marriage

HIGH CHARACTER is more important than the form of a wedding ceremony, in the opinion of Billie Burke, herself a devoted wife to Florenz Ziegfeld. But she says in an interview that she prefers a solemn church ceremony, with all its implies, and fears for the success of such unions as that undertaken by Aubrey Fosselle and Josephine Haldeman-Julius. Ironically her present role in "The Marquise" is that of mother of children of two men and wife of neither.

Fashions In Dog Flesh Change In German Circles

(City Universal Service)
BERLIN, Dec. 2.—That homely canine, the dachshund, whose long body and short legs have been a favorite object for the world's jokesters and cartoonists suffered a defeat in favor of chubbier English and French breeds at Berlin's dog show.

The modish Berlin woman insists upon English Airedales, upon Scotch terriers, upon French bulldogs, upon Russian borzois—anything rather than the comical and loyal dachshund which once ruled the German dog world. In the past any German family that didn't have its quota of dachshund could not quite make the social grade. Today this dog—whose admirers still insist is the only canine that can laugh at a joke—is adored by the ranks while the world of fashion demands more exotic pets.

"NEVADA" NOW HOLDS BOARDS AT CALIFORNIA

The Zane Grey winners come in as regular as clockwork. The latest of his exciting western romances to be released by Paramount is "Nevada," a smashing story of a two-week man who does a mighty piece of work routing a villainous band before settling down to a peaceful life with a wonderful girl.

Opening last night at the California Theatre the production made a spontaneous hit with the audience. Gary Cooper, the star, looks like a tremendous bet for Paramount. He is tall, good to look at, and a Western hero. His leading woman, Thelma Todd, playing her first Zane Grey part, fits her role to perfection. A girl of exceptional beauty, she won the sympathy of the audience quickly and gave an admirable portrayal. William Powell, dean of heavies, came through as usual with a magnificent performance. The entire cast is deserving of credit.

The story gives a reminder of the days of terror when the Meekandias gang was at its worst and Billy the Kid was on the rampage. Cooper is something of a bad man himself in the beginning, but has traits which cause him to use his shooting ability for law and order after the first reel.

The action, involving love complications and fierce gun fights between posse and cattle rustlers, transpires against marvelous scenery in the Southwest. The photography is unusual.

The millions who enjoy Zane Grey's inimitable stories of the West will welcome this latest addition. B. P. Schildberg, associate Paramount producer, gave John Waters, director, carte blanche instructions to go out and make the best Zane Grey to date. He did it!

Other features include Hal Roach's comedy "Wise Guys Prefer Brunettes" featuring Helene Chadwick; "Ko Ko's Kane," International News; and Larry Cando at the organ.

AN AFRICAN KINGDOM, with himself as head, is still in the mind of Marcus Garvey, according to reports. He will be released from Atlanta prison soon and deported to Jamaica. At dusk the sky is black with bats. The swish of wings is heard soon after sun down and then the bats swoop down in droves from every nook and cranny which has been large enough to house them during the daylight hours.

Work Started On Memorial To Andy Smith In U.C. Bowl

BERKELEY, Dec. 2. — Work was commenced yesterday in the University of California Memorial Stadium on the erection of the Andy Smith memorial bench which will be dedicated at the California-Pennsylvania intercollegiate football game, December 31.

The memorial which will be constructed of California granite quarried in Madera county was designed under the supervision of H. B. Foster, University engineer. Workmen lifted the sod from the bench location just in front of the California rooting section and concrete was poured for the foundation. The construction of the bench itself will begin on December 17.

The base of the memorial will be an ornamental structure of red brick and granite forty-five feet in length. The bench itself will be 42 feet long and will be slightly curved.

The seats of the bench will be made of East Indian teakwood, the most durable wood known.

On the back of the bench will be inscribed the name of Smith, who was the coach of California's Wonder Teams and also a student and coach of the University of Pennsylvania Quakers.

On the inside of the bench will be a more elaborate inscription to be written by Dr. David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California and friend of the late coach.

Plans for the dedication exercises have not been completed, but William W. Monahan, graduate manager of the California student body has indicated that they will be simple. The exercises will take place just before the football game.

Participating in the dedication will be Nils Price, present California football coach, and Lou Young, Pennsylvania coach, who was a student at the eastern school when Smith was guiding the football destinies of his alma mater.

things that actually run. He wants mechanical building sets, dump trucks that really dump and ferris wheels that turn. "And the little girl is just as modern. Her stove is an electric affair, her doll is a flapper with long, skinny legs and bobbed hair, and her miniature household has a bathroom with running water. No more caricatured dolls for her; they must look like human beings."

Then this king of American Santas smiled a happy smile in an old-fashioned way and said: "It is pleasing to note that the small girls of this nation, be their mothers ever so advanced. Still play with dolls. The doll per capita is four to every little girl in the United States, and almost all feminine toys have something to do with the domestic scene."

WATCH FOR COATED TONGUES

Every one knows that a coated tongue is a symptom of some ailment. If neglected, the chances are that the person will be unable to resist infection. A liberal amount of bulk food, fruits and vegetables should clear up this condition. Headaches or bilious attacks often occur with a coated tongue. Orange or lemon juice is particularly helpful.

CHICK ROACH DEFEATS ROBINSON AT EL CERRITO

ALL RICHMOND VALLEJO BOXER SELECT TEAM STAGES RALLY CAPTAIN TODAY TO WIN MATCH

The All-Richmonds will have their final practice this afternoon at 3 o'clock in First Street Park, preparatory to their game with the Mission team tomorrow afternoon. A captain to head the eleven will be elected this afternoon on the field and Manager John Walker is anxious for all the members to be present.

The team has been turning out for practice every day this week to round the rough corners that showed up in the game last Sunday. Several new recruits added the past week are expected to strengthen the team considerably. Patrolman Marshall Salisbury, the big six-foot-four 225 pound policeman, has proved that he can handle himself on a gridiron and is expected to develop into a dangerous threat man to opposing teams.

Adcock, a former member of Antioch squad, is another recruit to the local forces who is expected to show good work at fullback. Walker has recovered from the sprained ankle sustained several weeks ago and will be back at his old position at quarter Sunday.

VALLEJO BOXER STAGES RALLY TO WIN MATCH

Before a packed house Chick Roach, veteran Vallejo fighter, brought a halt to Tiger Robinson's winning streak when he earned a ten-round decision over him in the main event at the El Cerrito fight show last night.

The verdict, rendered by Referee Benny Wagner, was well received by the fans. Roach earned the nod by his effective work at infighting, more than making up for the points piled up by the colored fighter at long range fighting.

Robinson landed the cleaner punches of the two boys but failed to display the willingness to mix it that he has on last few starts at the El Cerrito arena. A rally in the closing minutes of the fight made the issue certain for the Vallejo boxer.

Buddy Ryan, Pinole pride, was fed a set-up in the four-round semi-windup in the person of Mike Denton of Vallejo, who substituted for Frankie Stetson of San Francisco. Denton put up a willing fight but was outclassed by the Pinole Irishman, who took every round. Announcement at the eleventh hour that Stetson was unable to appear because of sickness was the signal for concerted booing on the part of ring worms and bleacher gods and goddesses alike. Stetson, by virtue of his knockout of Micky Brown of Richmond at the last fight show, had established himself a decided favorite with local fans.

Chief Hottenger, El Cerrito comedy fighter, broke into the winning column by taking a four-round decision over Joe Schwartz of Albany in the semi-windup. The boys put up a pretty even battle, with a nine-count knockdown scored by Hottenger counting to give him the edge.

Mickey Brown, popular Richmond boxer, ran into a tangle in the shape of one Phil Guerrero, who scored a knockout in the first round. The going was fairly even until the winning punch, which dazed Brown across the ropes. Bobby McIntyre of Oakland, who had been installed a big favorite over Young Franklin, also of Oakland, was given a surprise when his colored opponent held

U.S.C. Huskies Clash Today To Be Viewed By 70,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Huskies from the Northland, panting from the heat, went to bed tonight in a bungalow on the grounds of the palatial Ambassador Hotel to rest for their clash with the speedy Trojans of the University of Southern California tomorrow at the gigantic coliseum. It was a quiet squad of thirty-three warriors that came back from a morning workout where tomorrow each eleven clashes in its last game of the season.

It also marks the end of the conference football year. A victory by Washington would place that team in an enviable position. A defeat would send the men of Howard A. Jones tumbling out of a tie for the conference title, which they now hold with Idaho and Stanford.

As Coach Enoch Bagshaw followed his men to the hotel after the tight practice session he looked to the sky, but not a cloud was to be seen. The men appeared haggard, listless. The heat of Southern California in December already had begun to take its toll. And the weather man tonight said: "Fair and warmer." That's the first break against the Huskies. More than 70,000 will witness the battle between the two husky classes. Here the critics favor the Washington team to win. The boys who place their money on the line are wagering 10 to 6 on U. S. C. But why this attitude of the critics? Here is what Mark Kelly, sport editor of the Los Angeles "Examiner," has to say:

1—The Huskies are pointed for this game.
2—They have an impressive scoring record. They have power, even if they lack deception and in big games have not failed to produce great kicking. Their fundamentals are solid.
3—They have a pronounced psychological advantage because the Trojans in their disappointment at the Notre Dame reverse, do not seem to be alive to the fact it will take every last ounce of their energies to win.

—The Trojans are mentally and physically let down.
—Granting that each eleven is a creditable football machine, one that can take its place with credit on any gridiron it appears as if the whole problem of victory is up to the coaches. Can Jones and Bagshaw get their men into the right emotional stage? Will Washington beat the record of Pop Warner's men?

If each mentor succeeds in this task, the winner will be that eleven which follows the ball each minute, fighting from whistle to whistle.

Ten Washington players are fighting their last fight for the Purple and Gold. Led by Captain Pat Wilson, Louis Tesreau, Doug Bonamy, Romeo Lauzon, Herman Dirks, Don Douglas, Leroy Schul, Bill Wright, Bob Shaw and Gene Cook can be relied upon to make this contest one of merit. The fact that the men will be determined, are veterans and realize the importance of the game to Washington, is the one thing above all else that may make it a possibility for Bagshaw to key them to the right emotional pitch for the contest.

The game has, on paper, developed into a duel between Morley Drury, an All-American back and Chuck Carroll, a test of punting between Tesreau and Jess Hibbs and the line against the line.

Worried Telephone Subscriber— I say, my telephone hasn't worked for a month, and you paid no attention to my letter of complaint. I'm furious. We did. We rang you up to ask what was wrong, and got no answer.—T.H.B.

GROWTH
IN half a century the telephone in America has grown from a crude instrument and a length of wire to more than 18,000,000 telephones, interconnected by 61,000,000 miles of wire.
It has grown from uncertain transmission between two rooms to easy and dependable service from village to village throughout our big cities and across the continent and between this continent and Great Britain.
As an investment the telephone industry has grown from a subject of jest, when first introduced, to a $3,000,000,000 business, the property of 800,000 men and women who are confident in its stability and earning power.
It has grown from two men, the inventor and his assistant to an army of 350,000 engaged in meeting the problems of construction, maintenance and operation.
It has grown from a single sentence, barely intelligible, to a daily traffic of 73,000,000 calls, each a message of value to someone.
This growth is the measure of the people's need for personal communication and of the activity, in only half a century, in meeting that need.

FAIR OR FOUL

The Pirates aren't going to be a National League leader. McKechnie is a good loser. He took his run-around in Pittsburgh gracefully, and never squawked when he was shorn of almost all of his managerial powers during the closing weeks of the 1926 race. When he was finally let out he just mildly took a back seat and waited until Sam Breadon signed him as Bob O'Farrell's assistant for 1927.
Now that he is back in managerial harness again, and in command of a club that has pennant possibilities, McKechnie can be counted upon to make it hot for the Pirates.
Most of the Cards figure, and not without real cause, that the breaks, and not the Pirates, beat them out of a National League pennant last year. The failure of Flint Rhem to come up to his 1926 form, injuries to Bob O'Farrell, judged the most valuable player in 1926, and Tommy Thewenow's broken ankle took a lot of power away from the Cardinals. It took, according to the players, just that amount which removed them from the Pirates, who only squeezed into a pennant by a margin of two games in a battle that carried up to within one game of the end of the season.
Though Thewenow and O'Farrell are being counted on in 1928 to come back to their star form, it is the psychological edge of having McKechnie for a leader that the Red Birds are counting on to carry them back to the top.
Green pears and green tomatoes make good mock mincemeat.

The heat of Southern California in December already had begun to take its toll. And the weather man tonight said: "Fair and warmer." That's the first break against the Huskies. More than 70,000 will witness the battle between the two husky classes. Here the critics favor the Washington team to win. The boys who place their money on the line are wagering 10 to 6 on U. S. C. But why this attitude of the critics? Here is what Mark Kelly, sport editor of the Los Angeles "Examiner," has to say: 1—The Huskies are pointed for this game. 2—They have an impressive scoring record. They have power, even if they lack deception and in big games have not failed to produce great kicking. Their fundamentals are solid. 3—They have a pronounced psychological advantage because the Trojans in their disappointment at the Notre Dame reverse, do not seem to be alive to the fact it will take every last ounce of their energies to win. —The Trojans are mentally and physically let down. —Granting that each eleven is a creditable football machine, one that can take its place with credit on any gridiron it appears as if the whole problem of victory is up to the coaches. Can Jones and Bagshaw get their men into the right emotional stage? Will Washington beat the record of Pop Warner's men? If each mentor succeeds in this task, the winner will be that eleven which follows the ball each minute, fighting from whistle to whistle. Ten Washington players are fighting their last fight for the Purple and Gold. Led by Captain Pat Wilson, Louis Tesreau, Doug Bonamy, Romeo Lauzon, Herman Dirks, Don Douglas, Leroy Schul, Bill Wright, Bob Shaw and Gene Cook can be relied upon to make this contest one of merit. The Pirates aren't going to be a National League leader. McKechnie is a good loser. He took his run-around in Pittsburgh gracefully, and never squawked when he was shorn of almost all of his managerial powers during the closing weeks of the 1926 race. When he was finally let out he just mildly took a back seat and waited until Sam Breadon signed him as Bob O'Farrell's assistant for 1927. Now that he is back in managerial harness again, and in command of a club that has pennant possibilities, McKechnie can be counted upon to make it hot for the Pirates. Most of the Cards figure, and not without real cause, that the breaks, and not the Pirates, beat them out of a National League pennant last year. The failure of Flint Rhem to come up to his 1926 form, injuries to Bob O'Farrell, judged the most valuable player in 1926, and Tommy Thewenow's broken ankle took a lot of power away from the Cardinals. It took, according to the players, just that amount which removed them from the Pirates, who only squeezed into a pennant by a margin of two games in a battle that carried up to within one game of the end of the season. Though Thewenow and O'Farrell are being counted on in 1928 to come back to their star form, it is the psychological edge of having McKechnie for a leader that the Red Birds are counting on to carry them back to the top.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Huskies from the Northland, panting from the heat, went to bed tonight in a bungalow on the grounds of the palatial Ambassador Hotel to rest for their clash with the speedy Trojans of the University of Southern California tomorrow at the gigantic coliseum. It was a quiet squad of thirty-three warriors that came back from a morning workout where tomorrow each eleven clashes in its last game of the season. It also marks the end of the conference football year. A victory by Washington would place that team in an enviable position. A defeat would send the men of Howard A. Jones tumbling out of a tie for the conference title, which they now hold with Idaho and Stanford. As Coach Enoch Bagshaw followed his men to the hotel after the tight practice session he looked to the sky, but not a cloud was to be seen. The men appeared haggard, listless. The heat of Southern California in December already had begun to take its toll. And the weather man tonight said: "Fair and warmer." That's the first break against the Huskies. ## LIQUOR CACHE IS UNEARTHED IN POSTOFFICE

MARTINEZ, Dec. 2. — John Fleuti's general store in Moraga valley, in which the post office and telephone headquarters are also located, was raided last night by the prohibition squad under Clyde Laird and a quantity of wine and whisky confiscated, including a case or more of whisky said to be of pre-war distillation.

Fleuti, owner of the store and an old saloon keeper of Oakland, whose daughter, Mrs. John Smart, is the postmistress, was taken before Justice George O. Duncan in Walnut Creek where he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $500 for possession of liquor and an addition $100 for operating a slot machine.

Fleuti's son-in-law, the late John Smart, was formerly connected with the federal prohibition enforcement office until he retired to engage in business in Moraga with his father-in-law. Several years ago a moonshine still, said by the Contra Costa authorities to have been the property of Fleuti was confiscated in the Moraga hills but there was no further prosecution.

In last night's raid the prohibition officers who have been watching Fleuti's operations for months, claim to have found 300 gallons of wine in the basement of the store-post office-telephone exchange building, 100 gallons of jackass whisky and a quantity of old pre-prohibition whisky, the liquor, the officers said, being found in small lots in all parts of the building.

Legion Conclave In Paris Told To Rotarians

An interesting account of the overwhelming reception of the European especially the French Legion to the visiting American Legationaries was told the members of the (Richmond) Rotary club at their luncheon in the Hotel Carquinez yesterday by James E. Fiske, adjutant of the Legion in California and one of the 800 Californians who made the trip to the Paris convention.

He told of the expressions of good will and kindness received by the visiting ex-servicemen. The Americans, he said, approached the shores of France with a little hesitation, due to the stories of animosity against Americans that had been circulated prior to the visit. From the day they disembarked at La Havre until they boarded the ships for the return home, with the exception of one instance, they were showered with courtesies.

The exception, he said, was in a small industrial city near Paris where representatives of the American Civil Rights, a pacifist organization aroused the people to fear the visiting ex-soldiers. Miss Rose, of the Richmond Union high school, played several violin solos, George N. Rooker was chairman of the day.

Doubt Expressed In Deed Signature

MARTINEZ, Dec. 2.—Expressing doubt as to the genuineness of the signature of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Case-Soto to a deed to a Richmond lot conveyed to C. E. Clark on which Clark took out a $3,000 title insurance policy, Judge A. B. McKenzie continued further hearing in the suit of Mrs. Soto to have the deed set aside on the grounds of forgery until handwriting experts can submit reports.

The court qualified his remarks however by stating that the matter of determining the authenticity of the signature is one for chirographic experts and upon the reports submitted, probably by Prof. E. O. Heinrich of Berkeley.
